Hairspray directed by John Waters

TUES, June 15

Tracy Turnblad auditioned for the Corvyn Collins Show, a popular Baltimore teenage dance show. Despite being overweight, Tracy is a strong enough dancer to become a regular on the show, infuriating the show's reigning queen, Amber Von Tussle, a mean, privileged, beautiful high school girl. Tracy's growing confidence leads to her being hired as a plus-size model for the Hefty Hideaway clothing store owned by Mr. Pinky. Tracy uses her newfound fame to advocate for racial integration and encourages everyone to dance.

Wigstock directed by Barry Shils*

TUES, June 22

See this 1995 documentary film focusing on Wigstock, the annual drag music festival that had been held New York City's East Village through the 1980s and 1990s. The film presents a number of performances from the 1994 festival, including Crystal Waters, Dee-Lite, Jackie Beat, Debbie Harry, Leigh Bowery, Joey Arias and the Dussling Bankheads. The film also captures a performance by RuPaul at the height of his mainstream fame during the 1990s.

*Come in your favorite wig for a surprise!

Drag Performances

Join these fabulous ladies of drag for Disco Bingo, Brunch, and amazing performances.

Drag Disco Bingo

Hosted by The Alejandro Queen (@thealejandroqueen)

WED, June 16

Whiskey Wednesday gets jazzed up with bingo and fun, socially distant table games hosted by Alejandro, a timeless Venezuelan, Italian, Lebanese enigma.

We will be featuring Michters, a woman-made whiskey by master distiller Pamela Heilmann. Before joining the Michters team in 2015, Ms. Heilmann ran Beam's Booker's plant, the world's largest bourbon distiller. Heilmann isn't the only woman with a high-profile gig at Michters – Andrea Wilson, the distillery's vice president and distillery manager, supervises barrel procurement and aging. We are thrilled to showcase this woman-made spirit from the typically male-dominated world of Kentucky Whiskey.

Start time for games is 6pm.

Featuring a "throwback" menu of classic speakeasy cocktails and classic fiki cocktails, enjoy one of the best 80s playlists in town in your own dedicated space.

DJ Dance Party Series

Live performances are once again allowed outside, and we are thrilled to host DJs from the Queer community on the following evenings.

DJ Full Xposure

@dj_fullxposure

Friday, June 18

DJ Full Xposure hails from Washington DC, and is influenced by Reggaeton, R&B and Hip-Hop from time spent in Mexico. Whether DJing or producing, she wants people to feel comfortably vulnerable and exposed, with emotions flowing. Let her music bring feelings out of you that may not be understood on the surface.

DJ Slut Station

@djslutstation

Friday, June 25

DJ SlutStation is the Swedish alter-ego (cousin) of queer LA party mom Kristin Vallacher (@kristinvthe1st – @Cruisedancer; @Mommyissues_Theparty, founder; @Danasnight, founder), who is also a lesbian gym owner in Hollywood. DJ SlutStation's backstory involves growing up in a Swedish inland fishing village, becoming "too famous and popular" in her home country, and traveling to America to confront the fact she "may" be gay (she is). She is taking America by maelstrom, one "sick beat jay" at a time.

DJ Vick Jagger

@vickjagger_

Saturday, June 26

DJ Vick Jagger began DJing in 2016 after the immense loss of her two favorite artists, Prince & Bowie. She is heavily inspired by 60's Psych-Rock, 70's Disco & 80's Funk & Hip-Hop. Vick has had residencies spanning across Los Angeles & The OC. Most notably, her Drag Brunch show, "Brunch Becomes Her" in 2019. Vick loves to add an element of Drag to everything she does & always represents for the LGBTQ+ community.

Let's Start a Conversation

Sorry Not Sorry is proud to host "Creating Our New Normal," a formal reception and panel discussion to end our "12 Days of Pride" event series. Panel moderator Len Lanzi of Stubbs Alderton & Markkies LLP will welcome intersectional queer panelists from a wide range of industries to talk about post-COVID opportunities for redefining norms within the queer community and its relationship to the culture at large.

"Creating Our New Normal" Reception & Panel Discussion

WED, June 30, 6 pm

It can't be "party all the time, party all the time" (ask?) But, don't worry. We'll keep our final reception and "AMA" (Ask Me Anything!) style panel discussion fun with lively music, strong ass cocktails, and a special menu for event participants.

From the owner, Chef Kim Vu, "My great hope is to bring value to the queer community through this panel discussion and reception. Whether it be personal insight, career advice, or emotional encouragement, first and foremost, this event is meant to add value to their life. I'm sure it will be insightful for those who aren't queer, and hopefully it will help us become better allies to the queer community."

In addition to featuring Michters, a woman-made whiskey by master distiller Pamela Heilmann, we'll also be featuring La Grifona Tequila. Loosely translated as "The Screaming Woman", this 100% blue agave spirit is distilled by Melly Barajas in a small distillery in Jalisco. Every step of production takes place under one roof and the facility is overseen by a small staff of local women that work each process. This tequila is not just small batch and craft-made, it's woman-made start to finish.

There is no charge for the reception, but you must RSVP to: info@sorrynotsorryla.com
